embedded sustainability

Metric is committed to embedding sustainability into its core operations, striving to reduce its environmental footprint while championing responsible innovation. The company focuses on integrating eco-conscious practices across its supply chain, from sourcing sustainable materials to optimising energy efficiency in production processes. Metric also invests in renewable energy initiatives and promotes circular design principles, encouraging reuse, repair, and recycling to minimise waste. By actively measuring and reporting its environmental impact, Metric ensures transparency and accountability in its journey toward a greener future - demonstrating that profitability and environmental stewardship can go hand in hand.

We are proud to offer a dedicated "Recycle Your Old Furniture" service to customers, making it easy to responsibly part with used items as part of our zero-to-landfill commitment. Through this initiative, unwanted furniture is either refurbished and reintroduced into the circular economy or donated to charities, giving pieces a second life where they're most needed. When reuse isn't possible, we carefully strip items for usable components, ensuring that the smallest amount goes to waste. Any non-recyclable remnants are then incinerated in energy recovery facilities, converting waste into heat and power for the local community - demonstrating our belief that every asset can have a second purpose.

assessment of scope 123 emissions

Metric has completed a comprehensive assessment of its Scope 1, 2, and 3 greenhouse gas emissions, establishing a clear benchmark to guide meaningful sustainability improvements. By capturing data across direct emissions (Scope 1), purchased electricity (Scope 2), and indirect emissions throughout the value chain (Scope 3), we've built a full picture of our environmental impact. This measurement not only enhances transparency but also equips us with the insights needed to prioritise high-impact reduction strategies. With this baseline in place, we are committed to driving measurable progress toward our climate goals.

Metric proudly operates on 100% renewable energy, reflecting our deep commitment to sustainability and carbon reduction. Our offices are fitted entirely with energy-efficient LED lighting, further minimising energy consumption while maintaining a bright and productive workspace. Motion sensors ensure lights are only on when needed, reducing unnecessary electricity use throughout the day. Complementing this, we uphold a clear policy to switch off lights and appliances when not in use, empowering our team to play an active role in environmental responsibility. Together, these actions create a low-impact, future-conscious working environment rooted in everyday efficiency.

We are focused on building a sustainable supply chain and supporting the local economy. We source 90% of our products from British manufacturers, each of whom is assessed annually to ensure alignment with a net zero target by 2030. By prioritising local employment wherever possible, we help strengthen communities while reducing commuting emissions. We're proud to hold ISO 14001 environmental certification, which is reviewed annually to uphold rigorous standards. Additionally, our logistics strategy includes optimised route planning to lower fuel consumption and minimise our carbon footprint, ensuring that efficiency goes hand-in-hand with environmental responsibility.
